

GCSE Personal and Social Education 4931-01

All Candidates' performance across questions

Question Title	N	Mean	SD	Max Mark	FF	Attempt %
1	928	0.5	0.5	1	47.7	99.3
2	883	0.2	0.4	1	16.4	94.4
3	930	2.6	1.5	4	65.2	99.5
4	935	4.7	2.3	12	39.6	100
5	935	5.2	2	12	43.3	100
6	935	0.9	0.3	1	91.8	100
7	914	0.4	0.5	1	40.4	97.8
8	920	1.6	0.7	2	81	98.4
9	927	1.5	0.6	2	77.4	99.1
10	935	7.4	2	12	61.4	100
11	935	5.8	2.7	12	47.9	100
12	868	0.2	0.4	1	15.7	92.8
13	899	0.5	0.5	1	47.8	96.2
14	934	2.7	1.1	4	66.9	99.9
15	933	4.6	2.7	12	38.5	99.8
16	933	5.9	2.2	12	49.1	99.8

(d) 'Should 16-year-olds be allowed to vote?' Discuss.

[6]

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

4931
010005

(d) 'Should 16-year-olds be allowed to vote?' Discuss.

[6]

I do not believe that 16 year olds should be allowed to vote, as they have not had enough time to be educated about politics, so they could be making the wrong decisions. They are still ~~unable to do~~ unable to do many things within the law, so shouldn't be considered ~~as~~ adults. They could still be immature, and need at least another year before being allowed to make such a big ~~decide~~ decision. However, some people would say that if 16 year olds are allowed to get married and pay tax, they should have a say on how these things work. They can't be considered mature enough to get married if they still can't vote. Politics affect them as much as anyone else, and it's unfair that they don't get a say.

4931
010005

(d) 'Should 16-year-olds be allowed to vote?' Discuss.

[6]

I do not believe that 16 year olds should be allowed to vote,  they have not had enough time to be educated about politics, so they could be making the wrong decisions. They are still ~~unable to do~~ unable to do many things within the law, so shouldn't be considered ~~as~~ adults. They could still be immature, and need at least another year before being allowed to make such a big ~~decide~~ decision.  However, some people would say that if 16 year olds are allowed to get married and pay tax, they should have a say on how these things work. They can't be considered mature enough to get married if they still can't vote. Politics affect them as much as anyone else, and it's unfair that they don't get a say.

4931
010005

5

(10)

(d) 'Should 16-year-olds be allowed to vote?' Discuss.

[6]

I think 16-year-olds should be allowed to vote because they can work full-time, get married, join the army so why not? Teenagers nowadays are much more knowledgeable about politics and voting because of PSE lessons, compared to adults who know so little. I don't think the Government should worry because teenagers that strongly believe in voting will vote, those that don't will not. Teens are expected to make life-changing decisions at 16, so what's wrong with voting? Others disagree with me as 16-year-olds aren't considered adults yet so shouldn't have a say.

(d) 'Should 16-year-olds be allowed to vote?' Discuss.

[6]

I think 16-year-olds should be allowed to vote because they can work full time, get married, join the army so why not? Teenagers nowadays are much more knowledgeable about politics and voting because of PSE lessons, compared to adults who know so little. I don't think the Government should worry because teenagers that strongly believe in voting will vote, those that don't will not. Teens are expected to make life-changing decisions at 16, so what's wrong with voting? Others disagree with me as 16 year olds aren't considered adults yet so shouldn't have a say.

4

4931
010005

9

(d) 'Should 16-year-olds be allowed to vote?' Discuss.

[6]

most
Personally, I disagree as I don't think 16 year olds are particularly interested in politics and if they are, don't know as much about politics as they should do to vote. However, people disagree as you're allowed to get married at 16, therefore you may have your own family so that takes more responsibility than voting. Also, some 16 year olds have strong views and want to voice them like everyone else. However, they're not considered an adult until they're 18 and still need parental consent for some things showing they still need guidance at 18.

(d) 'Should 16-year-olds be allowed to vote?' Discuss.

[6]

most Personally, I disagree as I don't think 16 year olds are particularly interested in politics and if they are, don't know as much about politics as they should do to vote. However, people disagree as you're allowed to get married at 16, therefore you may have your own family so that takes more responsibility than voting. Also, some 16 year olds have strong views and want to voice them like everyone else. However, they're not considered an adult until until they're 18 and still need parental consent for some things showing they still need guidance at 18.

5 4931
 010005

7

(d) 'Most heart problems are caused by factors that you certainly can control'. Discuss. [6]

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

(d) 'Most heart problems are caused by factors that you certainly can control'. Discuss. [6]

I agree with the statement as even though some people do have underlying heart problems that are genetic most heart problems have other causes.

Such as being over weight fat can build up in peoples arteries causing them to have a heart attack.

Also when people ~~smoke~~ ~~they~~ smoke they cause damage to their ~~hearts~~ hearts which weakens it.

Obesity can also lead to heart problems as the heart has to work more to get blood all around the body, which puts stress on the heart.

(d) 'Most heart problems are caused by factors that you certainly can control'. Discuss. [6]

I  agree with the statement as even though some people do have underlying heart problems that are genetic most heart problems have other causes.

Such as being over weight fat can build up in peoples arteries causing them to have a heart attack.

Also when people ~~smoke~~ ~~they~~ smoke they cause damage to their ~~arteries~~ hearts which weakens it.

Obesity can also lead to heart problems as the heart has to work more to get blood all around the body, which puts stress on the heart.

3

(7)

(d) 'Most heart problems are caused by factors that you certainly can control'. Discuss. [6]

I agree with this. I think that even though some people are born with the gene and genetics can not help their condition, others become that way as a result of their lifestyle. For example obesity figures are high and this increases the risk of heart disease, a result of poor diets and lack of exercise which are factors that can be controlled but people ignore. I think the number of heart disease cases would be lower if it was just those who genetically suffer as a pose to those who eat themselves into medical problems.

(d) 'Most heart problems are caused by factors that you certainly can control'. Discuss. [6]

I agree with this. I think that even though some people are born with the gene and genetics can not help their condition, others become that way as a result of their lifestyle. For example obesity figures are high and this increases the risk of heart disease, a result of poor diets and lack of exercise which are factors that can be controlled but people ignore. I think the number of heart disease cases would be lower if it was just those who genetically suffer as a pose to those who eat themselves into medical problems.

④

(d) 'Most heart problems are caused by factors that you certainly can control'. Discuss. [6]

I agree with this because you can choose to live a healthy lifestyle. It is your decision to smoke or not do any exercise, and only you be unactive, and only you can control it. People know the dangers of an unhealthy lifestyle, so they should choose to change theirs. On the other hand, some people started smoking when the risks were unknown, and now cannot quit because they are addicted. Heart disease can also be genetic, so if it is within the family, you are more likely to get it. If a person is disabled, they may be unable to exercise, so have more chance of getting ~~in~~ a heart problem.

(d) 'Most heart problems are caused by factors that you certainly can control'. Discuss. [6]

I agree with this because you can choose to live a healthy lifestyle. It is your decision to smoke or ~~not do~~ ~~any~~ exercise, and only you be unactive, and only you can control it. People know the dangers of an unhealthy lifestyle, so they should choose to change theirs. On ~~the~~ the other hand, some people started smoking when the risks were unknown, and now cannot quit because they are addicted.  Heart disease can also be genetic, so if it is within the family, you are more likely to get it. If a person is disabled, they ~~can~~ may be unable to exercise, so have more chance of getting ~~in~~ a heart problem.

4

(9)

(d) Discuss the social, cultural and economic consequences of the United Kingdom accepting large numbers of asylum seekers. [6]

Examiner only

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

- (d) Discuss the social, cultural and economic consequences of the United Kingdom accepting large numbers of asylum seekers. [6]

The social, cultural and economic of the United Kingdom accepting large numbers of asylum seekers are that it could make the UK a greater nation, the UK can become multicultural, more business will be set up and jobs opened up therefore poverty can be defeated in the UK. However, having a large number of asylum seekers could cause problems as not many jobs are available, not enough accommodation, people not being accepted in terms of racism and discrimination. In my opinion accepting a large number of asylum seekers could be a great opportunity to turn the UK around.

- (d) Discuss the social, cultural and economic consequences of the United Kingdom accepting large numbers of asylum seekers. [6]

The social, cultural and economic of the United Kingdom accepting large numbers of asylum seekers are that it could make the UK a greater nation, the UK can become multicultural, more business will be set up and jobs opened up therefore poverty can be defeated in the UK. However, having a large number of asylum seekers could cause problems as not many jobs are available, not enough accommodation, people not being accepted in terms of racism and discrimination. In my opinion accepting a large number of asylum seekers could be a great opportunity to turn the UK around.

5

11

- (d) Discuss the social, cultural and economic consequences of the United Kingdom accepting large numbers of asylum seekers. [6]

Socially, the UK is now seeing less jobs for the people born in the UK as asylum seekers are working in jobs when actual British citizens can't get jobs. Culturally, we are seeing more religions and traditions in our country and we respect that eg, by building Mosque's etc. Economically, asylum seekers are a strain on our resources as we have to house them, give them benefits, give them jobs, spend money on healthcare and education for them, when we could use that money to improve the NHS, our education and improve our industry, jobs, armed services.

- (d) Discuss the social, cultural and economic consequences of the United Kingdom accepting large numbers of asylum seekers. [6]

Socially, the UK is now seeing less jobs for the people born in the UK as asylum seekers are working in jobs when actual British citizens can't get jobs. Culturally, we are seeing more religions and traditions in our country and we respect that eg, by building Mosque's etc. Economically, asylum seekers are a strain on our resources as we have to house them, give them benefits, give them jobs, spend money on healthcare and education for them, when we could use that money to improve the NHS, our education and improve our industry, jobs, armed services.

4

7

- (d) Discuss the social, cultural and economic consequences of the United Kingdom accepting large numbers of asylum seekers. [6]

As more people enter Britain, there are more people needing jobs, which means unemployment rises. There are more people requiring houses, so money has to be spent on building them, and there are more homeless people. People of some cultures don't follow the same laws as Britain, so crime rates rise, and prisons become full.

However, more people can also mean more people are spending money in Britain so it could help the economy, they create more diversity so we can learn about different cultures, and they have different skills which we could use to benefit us.

- (d) Discuss the social, cultural and economic consequences of the United Kingdom accepting large numbers of asylum seekers. [6]

As more people enter Britain, there are more people needing jobs, which means unemployment rises. There are more people requiring houses, so money has to be spent on building them, and there are more homeless people. People of some cultures don't follow the same laws as Britain, so crime rates rise, and prisons become full. 🗨️

However, more people can also mean more people are spending money in Britain so it could help the economy, they create more diversity so we can learn about different cultures, and they have different skills which we could use to benefit us.

4

6